Patient Participation Groups A Best Practice Guide

February 2017

Introduction

A Patient Participation Group (PPG) is a group of patients, carers and GP practice staff who meet to discuss practice issues and patient experience to help improve the service.

Since April 2015, it has been a contractual requirement for all GP practices to have a PPG and to make reasonable efforts for this to be representative of the practice population. Sunderland Clinical Commissioning Group (SCCG) have appointed Healthwatch Sunderland to support the development of PPGs and LPGs (Locality Patient Group) across Sunderland.

This Best Practice Guide has been designed to assist GP practices and patients in setting up and maintaining a PPG to improve services for the whole of their GP practice population.

Acknowledgment

Healthwatch Sunderland would like to acknowledge Healthwatch Central West London for sharing their Best Practice Guide which has been used to create this document.

What is a Patient Participation Group (PPG)?

Patient Participation Group Definition

A Patient Participation Group (PPG) is a group of patients, carers and GP practice staff who meet to discuss practice issues and patient experience to improve the service.

Purpose of a PPG:

- To give patients and practice staff the opportunity to meet and discuss topics of mutual interest
- To provide a means for patients to become more involved and make suggestions about the healthcare services they receive
- To explore issues from patient complaints and patient surveys, contribute to action plans and help monitor improvements
- To contribute feedback to the practice on National Patient Survey results and Friends and Family Test feedback to propose developments or change
- To support health awareness and patient education.

What should a PPG look like?

A PPG is open to every patient on the GP practice list. All communities, groups, genders, ages, ethnicities, and disabilities representing the patient list are encouraged to join. There are no other membership requirements except that patients must be registered with the practice.

PPG members should as far as possible, be representative of the practice population. In some cases, the practice can ask for support from their local Healthwatch to assist in the recruitment of patients. Healthwatch Sunderland will help to advertise letting patients know about their PPGs and by utilising our Volunteers for those practices that don't currently have patient group members.

What types of PPGs are there and how should they work?

Face to Face	Virtual
<ul style="list-style-type: none">● Practices setting up a face to face group should try to make the group as representative as possible● The practice staff should make sure that everyone in the group is clear about what is and what is not to be included in group discussions or actions● It is good to outline some ground rules during the first meeting of the group, for the PPG to return to when needed. This will form part of the Terms of Reference (See appendix 3)● Poor planning is one of the main reasons why patient groups fail, so it is important that the group formulates an action plan. These can include short term, and long term goals, with timescales for when tasks need to be completed● Meetings should be set for no longer than 1.5 hours, unless PPG members have specifically requested more time● A PPG should aim to meet at least 4 times over a year (quarterly) but can meet more often if the group chooses to do so. Usually, a PPG will meet within the GP practice at a time suitable for all patients - this could be afternoon or evening depending on your practice population● A PPG should always block out time during these meetings for the practice to give patients any information about changes to the practice's services, and for patients to bring up any issues they feel could affect the wider practice population.	<ul style="list-style-type: none">● Practices can set up a virtual group for patients who want to contribute to improving services in the practice, but cannot attend face to face meetings. In this case, the practice can run the group in a number of different ways● Set up an email address specifically for PPG members, which is used to communicate with patients and consult with them on a range of topics that affect the practice● Use social media to communicate with a wider range of patients● Set up a Skype account for virtual face to face meetings● Designated staff responsible for communicating with the virtual PPG should ensure they have regular communication with the group, keeping them updated with any changes happening in the practice● Members should be asked regularly to provide comments and suggestions over email, just as they would in a face to face group● If virtual members decide they want a face to face group, this can be made possible by the practice. They might meet less frequently than other face to face groups, as these meetings would be in addition to the virtual group.

PPG Do's and Don'ts

What can a PPG do?

- Discuss constructive suggestions for improving the practice, and share concerns that could affect the wider practice population
- Organise health focused events with the practice, i.e. healthy eating awareness as an information event for all practice patients to attend
- Create a patient survey with practice staff, to get feedback about the practice from the rest of the patient population
- Design a newsletter for the practice, to provide regular updates to patients
- Assist the practice in making sure their website is 'patient friendly'
- Engage with the local community via fundraising events and useful health information, to ensure the PPG is representative
- Invite health and voluntary professionals to PPG meetings, for PPG members to remain informed and updated about local opportunities for patients.

What can a PPG not do?

- PPG patient members cannot provide any medical advice to other patients, or deal with personal/medical issues or individual patient complaints during the meeting. These should be dealt with outside the meeting following the practices already established procedures.

PPG Best Practice Example: A PPG member at X Medical Centre began discussing her own ailments during the meeting to which another group member gave advice around which medication she should be taking. The chair of the meeting suggested the patient speak with the Practice Manager after the meeting to resolve the issue.

First Steps for Setting Up a PPG

Starting a PPG for the first time can seem like a daunting experience.

It is important that a PPG is meaningful to both the patients and the practice staff, and there are various ways to work towards this that are specific to each PPG.

In this section you will find some basic ground rules that can be used for a first PPG meeting, and a clear outline of the roles and responsibilities of a PPG.

Ground Rules
The PPG meeting is not a forum for individual complaints and personal issues.	Silence indicates agreement - speak up if you would like your suggestions to be a part of the discussion!
Open and honest communication applies to all.	All views are valid and will be listened to.
Be flexible, listen, ask for help and support each other.	No phones or other disruptions.
Respect the practice and patient confidentiality at all times.	Discrimination on any grounds will not be tolerated.
Demonstrate a commitment to delivering results as a group.	Start and finish meetings on time and stick to the agenda.

Roles and Responsibilities of a PPG:

The PPG might in the first instance, consist of between 4 and 6 patients. There will also be representation from the practice either via the practice manager or a delegated member of admin staff who is always in attendance. GPs should also attend the meetings, either for a regular slot on the agenda, or as and when requested by PPG members. The PPG should meet at least 4 times a year.

PPG members should elect a patient chair after the first or second meeting. Having a patient who chairs the PPG meetings empowers the group to share their views and encourages co-production between the patients and the practice.

Patient Chair: Manages meetings and is the main link between the patient group and the practice staff.

The patient chair should:

- Set the agenda of the meeting with practice staff
- Ensure all PPG members have equal opportunity to contribute to the meeting
- Ensure all agenda items are discussed in a timely manner
- Ensure actions are recorded and steps are taken to implement them.

The PPG should also have a secretary (this might be a patient or a member of practice staff) to take the notes of the meeting, as this will help structure the PPG meetings and its activities. This role could rotate amongst the PPG members.

Secretary: Is responsible for supporting the chair and ensuring the group runs smoothly.

The secretary should:

- Take notes at the meeting and circulate them. They should include all action points agreed at the meeting
- The notes should be shared using the agreed method of communication for PPG Members; e.g. over email or via post.

PPG Best Practice Example:

After putting up PPG posters and flyers and speaking to a number of interested patients, X Medical Centre had their first PPG meeting and 6 patients attended, along with the practice manager and a GP. The group elected a patient chair and discussed the practice's new website. PPG members suggested creating a short survey to share with the whole practice population to find out if they are accessing the new practice website, and if they find it easy to navigate.

The Role of the Members

While it is the role of the chairperson to run the meeting, the participation of all members is also fundamental to the success of the meeting.

To ensure an effective meeting, all participants should:

- Undertake any necessary preparation prior to the meeting
- Arrive on time
- Keep an open mind
- Listen to the opinions of others
- Ask questions to clarify understanding
- Avoid dominating the proceedings
- Avoid conflict situations
- Note down any action agreed upon
- After the meeting, undertake any agreed action and brief others as appropriate.

Conducting a Meeting

If appropriate preparations have been made, then the scene is set for an effective meeting.

Agendas will have been produced and circulate. Participants will arrive knowing what is to be discussed with sufficient background information to make relevant contributions. If appropriate, they will have consulted with people they represent and discussed any pertinent issues.

Why Meetings May Be Ineffective

There are many reasons why meetings are not effective, some of these include:

- No set agenda or lack of preparation
- The meeting lacks a clarity of purpose i.e. the aims and objectives are not clearly defined
- Inappropriate style of leadership i.e. the chairperson dominates and closes down or disregards other contributions
- The chairperson exercises little control and allows one or two members to dominate the proceedings.

- Decisions are delayed or not acted upon
 - No clear cut decisions are made.

To ensure success of a meeting, good preparation is essential and the role of the chairperson is paramount. If these conditions are met, then all participants should leave their meeting feeling a sense of accomplishment, not as if their time has been wasted.

Recruiting More Patients to Your PPG

There are lots of ways to recruit PPG members, and the most effective ways depend on the nature of your practice population:

- Create a large poster advertising the PPG, which has a small amount of text and says clearly what the group is, when they meet and how to register
- Use the electronic display to advertise the PPG if you have one
- Practice staff can help identify patients who might be interested, and approach them face to face to tell them about the group
- If you already have PPG members, some may be willing to spend an afternoon sitting in the practice, talking to patients in the waiting room and signing them up there and then
- Create a PPG page for the practice website
- Advertise the PPG at local community hub spaces with posters
- Have an open day with useful information on particular health topics for all interested patients to attend
- Tell patients about the group as soon as they register with the practice and when they pick up repeat prescriptions
- Advertise the PPG using the text message service
- Make contact with your local Healthwatch to assist in telling people about your PPG.

How to make your PPG more representative:

Having a PPG that represents the diversity of your patient population is important in making sure the GP practice is meeting the needs of its patients, by listening to a variety of patient voices.

There are many things PPGs can do to engage a wider range of patients:

- Create a suggestions and compliments box that sits in the GP practice

- Advertise the PPG amongst local community groups with the support of local voluntary organisations like Healthwatch
- PPG members can attend local community group meetings
- Invite local voluntary organisation representatives to PPG meetings, to share PPG information with the people they work with
- Practice/PPG members can go out into the community to consult with particular seldom-heard groups
- Practice can host information sessions/events that are relevant to particular community groups to reign in interest
- GP practices can engage with Healthwatch and receive feedback from seldom-heard groups about their GP practice, to take to future PPG meetings.

PPG Best Practice Example:

X Medical Centre designed posters with their PPG as well as a newsletter, indicating that they would like more PPG members. After reviewing their records, the practice realised they had a number of patients with diabetes that they were not getting feedback from, so they hosted a diabetes information day in their practice. They invited interested patients to attend, sign up to the PPG, and chat with existing PPG members about what it's like to be a part of a PPG.

There are lots of resources available to support PPGs, their members, and the GP practices they belong to. For a PPG to succeed, it is important that members are supported. Patients must feel they can contribute in a meaningful way otherwise they may not want to continue attending PPG meetings.

Shared learning and good practice

Successful PPGs can nominate a member to attend other newly formed PPG meetings to speak to patients about PPGs, how they run their own PPG, and what challenges they have faced that others can learn from.

Nominated PPG members can also attend PPG area meetings if they are run locally, to represent their GP practice and learn from the experiences of other PPGs.

Training

Healthwatch Sunderland can provide free training sessions for patients and practice staff about engagement and being a patient representative. Contact Healthwatch Sunderland on 0191 5147145 or email healthwatchesunderland@pcp.uk.net for further information.

If GP practice staff do attend patient engagement training, it is important to remember that when reporting back to PPG meetings, the use of jargon language is avoided, and any materials provided are in an accessible format (i.e. using large text and easy-read documents with pictures).

National Association for Patient Participation (NAPP)

NAPP provides a number of PPG resources and information to support the development of PPGs, as well as ideas for meeting topics. Practice PPGs can choose to become members of NAPP by paying a joining fee and receiving a number of regular benefits and resources. Visit www.napp.org.uk for more information.

PPG Best Practice Example:

X Medical Centre kept close communication with Healthwatch PPG project work, and sent their PPG patient chair to a PPG network meeting. At the meeting, the chair found out about other ways to be a patient representative including being involved in making sure new NHS services meet the needs of the populations they served, and shared this with their fellow PPG members.

PPG Best Practice Example:

X Medical Centre was visited by a neighbouring practice's PPG patient chair, who shared recent topics from their PPG and ideas for getting more PPG members.

We Want To Contact The CCG What Do We Do?

To contact Sunderland CCG:

Direct Line: 0191 512 8484

This might be to request information, a speaker for your meetings, or for support in finding out the correct process to provide feedback on a particular issue. If your query is about a locality issue the CCG will advise the appropriate Locality Commissioning Manager.

Why might the CCG contact us?

To ask for help! The CCG produce a yearly plan, generally available around April / May, which describes their priorities for the coming year.

The short version of this is called the 'Plan on a Page' (PoaP), which you can find here: <http://sunderlandccg.nhs.uk/>

It is extremely important that patient and public views are sought to inform how this plan is developed and implemented. The CCG might contact you about any of their plans for the year, to see if you can gather local opinion.

Any written reports from meetings with patients and public can be found on: <http://sunderlandccg.nhs.uk/get-involved/>

Frequently Asked Questions

Do we have to have a patient group?

Yes, since April 2015, all GP practice NHS core contracts require GPs to have a PPG and make reasonable efforts to ensure that it is representative.

This is part of the government's aim to put the patient at the heart of everything the NHS does.

Should practice staff be involved in the group?

Yes, a GP and practice manager or equivalent should be part of the group. Without the support of both a clinician and a manager, the patient group will be unable to function effectively. The group must be supported with practice information, resources and authority to take action.

Let the group know who will be the lead from the practice and which GPs will be involved.

How many patients should be in the patient group?

There is no fixed number for a patient group, but it is best to start with a core group of 4-6 members who are able to commit and participate.

If the practice is set up for it, there can be additional virtual members who participate through the website.

A greater number of patients can also be invited to hear the results of the patient survey or for other special events arranged by the practice.

How often should the patient group meet?

- Frequency: There is no fixed number of required meetings, but a quarterly meeting (every 3 months) is what practices should aim for
- When: Getting the time right is vital. Timing depends on the preference of PPG members if you already have them signed up, and the nature of your practice population. If you have a majority working age population, evenings might be best. And if you have an older, retired population, meetings in the daytime might suit your PPG better. However, this depends almost entirely on the preference of your patients. Practices that have a mixture of the two can also have their meetings on rotation at different times/ days

- Length: Meetings should be long enough to discuss the relevant topics, but not too long that people switch off during meetings. One hour and thirty minutes is the maximum recommended time
- Venue: Usually the practice itself is the best place to hold meetings as patients will be familiar with the premises. If this is not possible for any reason, the practice may consider a local, accessible community venue.

What do patients get out of having a patient group?

- The opportunity to be more involved with the practice
- A chance to make suggestions and improve the practice
- A means of ensuring that complaints are taken on board and necessary changes are being made
- A way of finding out more about healthcare provisions in the local area
- Making a contribution to the NHS and the wider community
- Greater confidence by becoming a patient representative, having their voice heard and witnessing change happen when working as a part of a group
- An opportunity to learn more about the NHS, GP practices, and other ways to use their skills as a patient representative.

What does the practice get out of having a patient group?

- Understanding their patient experiences and views, thus contributing to more satisfied patients and better run services
- A patient group suggesting simple solutions that may not have been explored before
- PPGs can encourage health education activities amongst patients
- A successful PPG can drive in additional income; this can contribute to developing services that will benefit patients and help to maintain the PPG itself.

Seven Nolan Principles

The 7 principles of public life apply to anyone who works as a public office-holder. This includes people who are elected or appointed to public office, nationally and locally, and all people appointed to work in:

- the civil service
- local government
- the police
- the courts and probation services
- non-departmental public bodies
- health, education, social and care services.

The principles also apply to all those in other sectors that deliver public services.

The following are the Seven Nolan Principles:

1 Selflessness:

Holders of public office should act solely in terms of the public interest. They should not do so in order to gain financial or other benefits for themselves, their family or their friends.

2 Integrity:

Holders of public office should not place themselves under any financial or other obligation to outside individuals or organisations that might seek to influence them in the performance of their official duties.

3 Objectivity:

In carrying out public business, including making public appointments, awarding contracts, or recommending individuals for rewards and benefits, holders of public office should make choices on merit.

4 Accountability:

Holders of public office are accountable for their decisions and actions to the public and must submit themselves to whatever scrutiny is appropriate to their office.

5 Openness:

Holders of public office should be as open as possible about all the decisions and actions that they take. They should give reasons for their decisions and restrict information only when the wider public interest clearly demands.

6 Honesty:

Holders of public office have a duty to declare any private interests relating to their public duties and to take steps to resolve any conflicts arising in a way that protects the public interest.

PPG - Example of Practice Website Information

The Patient Participation Group (PPG) is a collection of patients registered at name of practice who have an interest in our provided services. The aim of the PPG is to represent patients' views and cross barriers, embrace diversity and work in partnership with the practice to improve common understanding.

The PPG aims to act as the 'voice of patients', reflecting local views and opinions and thus having a say in changes and decisions taken within the practice. The practice can also use the PPG as a 'sounding board' for new ideas.

The PPG works together with the Practice Manager, name of practice manager to form a link between the patients and the Practice and help to identify new services to meet patients' needs.

Are you interested in finding out more about name of practice? Would you like to influence the development of its services?

We aim to gather patients from as broad a spectrum as possible to get a truly representative sample. We need young people, workers, retirees, people with long term conditions, carers and people from non-British ethnic groups.

If you would like to attend our PPG meetings or have any suggestions to improve our Practice, please give the details to any staff member.

What is the purpose of having a PPG?

The purpose of the PPG is to provide you, patients of name of practice, with an opportunity to be involved in how your GP practice is run and for your views/opinions to be heard.

The PPG will be consulted on a regular basis and will have the opportunity to review and provide feedback on patients' views.

What are the benefits of a PPG?

- Patients will be able to get an idea of what is needed to improve healthcare and make sure that the patients view is always represented.

Good for patients because:

- Patients will benefit from improved communications with staff
- Patients will have a forum to suggest positive ideas.

Patient Participation is not:

- A forum for complaints.

If you would like to help develop the practice and shape the services we deliver, please contact the practice or complete the form below.

Your involvement will help us to make sure that we try to speak to a representative sample of the patients that are registered at this practice.

Virtual PPG Group - Getting Started

Introduction

This guide has been developed to support practices in setting up 'virtual' PPGs. It should be noted that a virtual PPG may not be appropriate for capturing views from all sections of the population and other forms of communication should also be considered for engaging with seldom heard groups of patients and carers or people who do not have access to email/internet.

Email can be a quick and effective way to carry out simple surveys to get feedback from patients.

Your practice may or may not already have an 'active' PPG which meets face to face, but having both can provide the opportunity to those unable to attend active groups.

Below are some of the common patient questions and answers that may be asked when promoting a virtual PPG.

Why are you asking patients for their contact details?

We would like to be able to contact patients and carers occasionally to ask them questions about the practice and how well we are doing to identify areas for improvement.

Will my doctor see this information?

This information is purely to contact patients to ask them questions about the practice, how well we are doing and ensure changes that are being made are patient focused. If your doctor is responsible for making some of the changes in the practice they might see general feedback from patients that does not identify individuals.

Will the questions you ask be medical or personal?

We will only ask general questions about the practice, such as short questionnaires.

Who else will be able to access my contact details?

Your contact details will be kept safely and securely and will only be used for this purpose and will not be shared with anyone else.

How often will you contact me?

Not very often [Insert how often you plan to contact patients].

What is a patient group/patient participation group?

This is a group of volunteer patients who are involved in making sure the practice provides the service its patients' needs.

What if I no longer wish to be on the contact list or if I leave the practice? We will ask you to let us know by email if you do not wish to receive further messages.

Top Tips to Involve Young People

Young people need to be involved at all levels of our healthcare. All too often we expect young people to get involved on our terms, but traditional engagement approaches don't work for most young people.

Patient Participation Groups across Sunderland have very few young patient members yet they are significant users of health services and part of our future - it is really important to engage them!

Below are some top tips to help you recruit and maintain young members -

- Inclusiveness - Taking steps to overcome barriers to participation
- Reaching out - Being proactive, encouraging patients to join
- Mutual respect - Listening, understanding and value their input
- Consider the time of your meetings to enable young members to attend - Are they working? Are they a student? Do they have a young family to look after?
- Move away from jargon filled documents - use plain English
- Make them feel welcome and supported by the group
- Allocate a 'buddy' to the new young member to put them at ease but also be there 'go to person' as a means of support
- Offer training to attract new young members and help them understand their role fully.

Be the voice of younger patients in your GP practice?

What is a PPG and what do they do?

A Patient Participation Group (PPG) is a group of patients, carers and GP practice staff who either meet to discuss practice issues and patient experience to improve the service or exchange dialog via electronic formats.

They exist to:

- To give patients and practice staff the opportunity to have discussions about current topics affecting the surgery and its patients
- To enable patients to become more involved and make suggestions about the healthcare services they receive
- To explore issues from patient complaints and patient surveys and help monitor improvements
- To support health awareness and patient education around health issues.

Who can join a PPG?

A PPG is open to every patient on the GP practice list. All communities, groups, genders, ages, ethnicities, and disabilities representing the patient list. There are no other membership requirements except that patients must be registered with the practice.

What is in it for you?

- Get to know what is going on in your GP practice and the NHS as a whole
- Use the opportunity to enhance your studies or your C.V.

- Gain recognition for your views, opinions and ideas. That they can be valued and can make a difference
- Increase your confidence, self-esteem, experience and skills and become more independent
- Help your practice make the right decisions in the planning of Healthcare services for yourself and other younger people
- The chance ‘to give something back’ to your GP practice.

Why is it important for younger people to get involved?

Patient Participation Groups (PPGs) across Sunderland have very few younger patient members yet they are significant users of health services and part of our future - it is really important that the younger person and the issues which affect younger people are heard!

For more information about Patient Participation Groups visit: www.napp.org.uk Visit your surgery’s website or ask your GP practice staff for more information on your PPG.
